

Relation to other UX Projects

Fluid Design Activities Related to Content Management Research

Questions?

- Can we do this research looking at both Sakai and uPortal at once? They are really 2 different problem domains so probably deserve this kind of project for each.
- Is there enough focused time for research and modeling activities to not drag this out too long? Can we design and develop components at the same time?
- Clay would like to see a clear picture of changes around file management at the Sakai conference to be implemented by March. How much is enough? Research likely won't be done by then.
- Can we train people to do contextual inquiry?
- Given the contextual inquiries will be distributed, can we use the Sakai conference or days before to work through what we found -- Persona ID exercise, use case matrix, other?
