

Storytelling and Story-gathering Resources, Tools and Examples

Why Inclusive Digital Storytelling?

- supports voices that are otherwise not heard within a community (due to disability, different approaches, etc.)
- allows connection with others with similar experiences
 - to recognize systemic issues
 - to organize together for change
- story as sanctuary: hearing part of your story in someone else's
 - insight/reflection through others' stories
- foster digital literacy, self-awareness and reflection amongst participants
- can provoke empathy
- makes issues "real" - real people, real problems, therefore real solutions that work
- allows dissemination of stories to those who often can't access them
- captures the history of a community/organization
- captures a point in time
 - could be used to self-assess one's own progress or changes over time
- helps with funding and outreach
- engages people who might not otherwise be able to participate
- facilitates a contribution to something larger - an issue, a collective experience, etc

Alan's Points on Storytelling

- One of the ways we get to know new people is by telling stories about ourselves and hearing stories from them
- Can we know each other, if we can't tell each other our stories?
- Some barriers to storytelling
 - Language
 - Culture
 - Modality
- Wordless stories such as: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EBCA3iX3bKc> or <http://www.shauntan.net/books/the-arrival.html>
- Stories are also subject to misuse - propaganda, "fake news", politics
 - The story as a weapon
- Stories and cultural appropriation
- "Until the lion learns how to write every story will glorify the hunter"
