

Table of Contents Heading Calculator

The Heading Calculator subcomponent is used by the Table of Contents Model Builder to calculate and return the level of heading elements.

Do not use this component directly. The information on this page should be use when customizing Table of Contents.

See Also

Table of Contents Model Builder

Table of Contents API

Supported Events	none
Methods	none
Options	levels An array of heading elements presented in the order from the first level to the last level.

Options

back to top

levels

Description	An array of heading elements presented in the order from the first level to the last level. The level of the heading element "H1" is 1, "H2" is 2, and so on.
Default	["H1", "H2", "H3", "H4", "H5", "H6"]
Example	<pre>{ levels: [] }</pre>